

Why do they teach French?

French teachers have “A Wonderful Career”

Why do they teach French?

French teachers are eager to explore other cultures

Why do they teach French?

French teachers celebrate with their students

Why do they teach French?

French teachers discover and share the francophone cultures of West Africa

Why do they teach French?

French teachers are willing to venture outside their comfort zone

Why do they teach French?

French teachers discover and share the Francophone cultures of the Caribbean

Why do they teach French?

French teachers are drawn to new horizons

Why do they teach French?

French teachers
help students
become comfortable
in unfamiliar situations

Why do they teach French?

French teachers
and their students
go outside
to play

Why do they teach French?

French
teachers
discover and share works of art with their
students

Why do they teach French?

A group of approximately ten young people, likely students, are sitting on a ledge in front of the Louvre Pyramid in Paris, France. They are smiling and looking towards the camera. The pyramid is a large, glass and metal structure that reflects the sky and the surrounding buildings. In the background, the Louvre Museum's classical architecture is visible under a blue sky with scattered white clouds. The overall scene is bright and sunny.

French teachers take field trips to France, Quebec and Martinique

Why do they teach French?

St Malo, France

A group of six young people, three men and three women, are captured in mid-air, jumping joyfully on a sandy beach. They are dressed in casual, contemporary clothing like hoodies and jackets. The background shows a calm sea and a sky with soft, golden light from a setting or rising sun. The overall mood is one of carefree happiness and youth.

French teachers stay “young”
with their students

Why do they teach French?

French teachers share racial injustices of the past and the present

Why do they teach French?

A photograph of a modern high-speed train (TGV) stopped at a train station platform. The train is white with a blue and red stripe on the nose. The station has a large, ornate red metal archway. The train's headlights are on. The text "SNCF" is visible on the front of the train. The number "600" is visible on the side of the train. The platform has a concrete surface and a metal pole with a yellow sign. The sky is clear and blue.

French teachers share science & technology with their students

Why do they teach French?

A close-up photograph of a snail with a brown, spirally ridged shell and a greyish, textured body. The snail is moving through green grass and a dry, brown stem. The background is filled with green grass blades.

French teachers
are eager to try something new

Why do they teach French?

French teachers
share
history and heritage
with their
students

Why do they teach French?

French teachers
share with their
students
the pleasure
of reading

Why do they teach French?

French teachers
share cultural injustices
of the past
with their students

Why do they teach French?

French teachers discover and share beauty and aesthetics with their
students

Why do they teach French?

French teachers help their students develop writing skills

Why do they teach French?

French teachers discover and share
the culture of French Polynesia

Why do they teach French?

French teachers share the events of the past with their students

Why do they teach French?

French teachers help their students see the world

Why do they teach French?

Make your own slides with photos of your students, your
travel and education

Why do they teach French?

Make your own slides with
photos of your students, your
travel and education

Why do they teach French?

Make your own slides with
photos of your students, your
travel and education